Independent Auditors' Report

Board of Directors Creative Commons Corporation

We have audited the accompanying Statement of Financial Position of Creative Commons Corporation (a nonprofit organization) as of December 31, 2011, and the related Statements of Activities, Functional Expenses, and Cash Flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Organization's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. The prior year summarized comparative information has been derived from the Organization's 2010 financial statements and, in our report dated May 3, 2011, we expressed an unqualified opinion on those financial statements.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Creative Commons Corporation as of December 31, 2011, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

1. Organization

Creative Commons Corporation (Creative Commons) is a Massachusetts charitable corporation that develops, supports, and stewards legal and technical infrastructure that maximizes digital creativity, sharing, and innovation. Creative Commons' vision is to realize the full potential of the Internet – universal access to research and education, participatory culture, and driving the next era of development, growth, and productivity. Existing copyright laws were established long before the emergence of the Internet, and can make it difficult to legally "do things" we take for granted on the network: copy, paste, edit source, and post to the Web. Because it can be expensive and burdensome to secure legal permission to use a copyrighted work published to the Web, Creative Commons provides a set of free copyright licenses and public domain tools that enable everyone, from individual creators to large companies and institutions, a simple, standardized way to grant copyright permissions to their creative work. Creative Commons' public domain tools allow creators to waive all rights to a work and place it in the public domain, or to mark a work that is already in the public domain as such.

Creative Commons plays an instrumental role in furthering scientific research and innovation by enabling open access journals and the open exchange of scientific data. The world's largest Open Access publishers use Creative Commons' licenses to publish their content online. Creative Commons' licenses and public domain tools are also used to make data and databases freely available. The CC0 public domain dedication tool is used to remove copyright restrictions that could otherwise limit the dissemination and reuse of scientific and government data in the taxonomic, energy, genomics, disease research, geospatial, polar, and bilbiometric disciplines.

Creative Commons also provides the legal framework for Open Educational Resources (OER), free resources that are developed by institutions, communities, and individuals to further universal access to education. Creative Commons-licensed OER, such as textbooks and lesson plans, are easy to find, easy to share, and easy to customize and combine. Creative Commons' licenses enable collaboration on linguistic and cultural translations of quality educational resources for use around the world. Creative Commons is also developing software and metadata standards to improve search and discovery of educational resources.

Creative Commons' licenses and tools have been developed in consultation with legal experts and Creative Commons affiliate institutions in over 70 jurisdictions. Over 500 million Creative Commons-licensed works have been published by their authors on the Internet. Creative Commons is a major player in the "free culture," "open access," "open education," and "open government" environments worldwide.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Accounting – The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

Basis of Presentation – Creative Commons is required to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets, and permanently restricted net assets. The Organization has no permanently restricted net assets.

Estimates – Management uses estimates and assumptions in preparing financial statements. Those estimates and assumptions affect the reported amounts of asset and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, and the reported revenues and expenses. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents – For purposes of the Statement of Cash Flows, Creative Commons considers all unrestricted highly liquid investments with an initial maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Grants Receivable – No allowance for doubtful accounts is considered necessary since the receivables relate primarily to foundations and corporations.

Contributions Receivable – Unconditional receivables are recognized as revenue in the period received and as assets, decreases of liabilities, or expenses depending on the form of the benefits received. Unconditional receivables are recorded at net realizable value if expected to be collected in one year and at fair value if expected to be collected in more than one year. No allowance for uncollectible receivables has been recorded based on management's evaluation of collections.

Investments – Investments, consisting of nationally traded securities, with readily determinable fair values are stated at fair value in the statement of financial position.

Property and Equipment – Creative Commons capitalizes all expenditures for property and equipment in excess $1,000. Purchased property and equipment are carried at cost. Donated property and equipment are carried at the approximate fair value at the date of donation. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives on the property and equipment.

Restricted and Unrestricted Revenue — Contributions received are recorded as increases in unrestricted, temporarily restricted, or permanently restricted net assets, depending on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions. When a donor-specified restriction expires (that is when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished), the temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the Statement of Activities as Net Assets Released from Restrictions.

Donated Services – The financial statements reflect $135,614 for donated legal services to evaluate ongoing tax, trademark, and copyright implications of its new programs and existing services.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments – The carrying amount of cash, grants receivable, contributions and other receivables, prepaid expenses, security deposit, accounts payable, and accrued liabilities, none of which are held for trading purposes, approximate the fair value due to the short-term maturities of those instruments.

Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2011

Income Taxes – Creative Commons is exempt from income taxes under Internal Revenue Section 501(c)(3). Creative Commons qualifies for the charitable contribution deduction under Section 170(b)(1)(A) and has been classified as an organization that is not a private foundation under Section 509(a)(1).

Creative Commons recognizes the effect of income tax positions only if those positions are more than not to be sustained. Management continuously evaluates tax positions reflected in the Creative Commons' tax filings and does not believe that any material uncertain tax positions exist.

The Organization's returns for the years ended December 31, 2009, 2010, and 2011 are subject to examination by federal and state taxing authorities for three years (four for state) after they are filed.

Functional Allocation of Expenses – Costs of providing programs and other activities are accumulated into separate groupings as either direct or indirect. Indirect or shared costs are allocated to the programs and supporting services by a method which best measured the relative degree of benefit. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated between the program and the supporting services in reasonable ratios determined by management.

Reclassifications – Certain accounts in the prior year financial statements have been reclassified for comparative purposes to conform to the presentation in the current year financial statements.

Comparative Totals – The financial statements include certain prior year summarized comparative information in total but not by net asset class. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with Creative Commons' financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2010 from which the summarized information was derived.

3. Concentration of Credit Risk

Creative Commons maintains cash balances at several financial institutions. Accounts at each institution are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000. Moreover, the Organization's banks take part in the FDIC's Transaction Account Guarantee Program, which provides unlimited deposit insurance coverage for non-interest bearing accounts until December 31, 2012. At December 31, 2011, the Organization had no uninsured cash balances.

4. Grants Receivable

Grants Receivable includes the following unconditional promises to give:
